Winds of change are blowing and the routes of fashion and lifestyle follow new currents. We sail with greater awareness of our choices toward a new elegance that respects the planet and is made up of essential shapes capable of revealing the quality of materials.

RDVO gives new life to nautical laminates, combining fine Italian leathers and residues of other processes to create accessories with a rigorous and sustainable design.

NOW... BRING ME THAT HORIZON

RDVO is committed to making a difference with rigorous technical research, conscious production choices, and a minimalist but recognizable design, creating essential accessories that everyday tell the story of those who choose them. Forward-looking objects that come from a proud Italian manufacturing tradition.

Urban style maxi bag and mini wallet, made of materials that preserve the memory of the wind. Memories of rushing gusts, gentle breezes, infinite horizons. To remind us every day that time is not just the frantic chasing of seconds and that time can scroll at other speeds too.

Everything has a memory. Wearing a backpack made of materials that tell a story of stormy seas and calm waters, nights at anchor under the stars and safe harbors, it is an invitation to always let the wind swell the sails of our life. RDVVO recycles and reinterprets nautical fabrics and leathers coming from processing residues of the best Italian tanneries, to revitalize them as 100% sustainable accessories.

THE WIND OF REVOLUTIONS

-Les Misérables, Victor Hugo, 1862-

IS NOT TRACTABLE

Innovation, sustainability, design: for RDVO, these are not words spoken to the wind, but declarations of intent to respond with facts to changing scenarios. Accessories that promote a revolutionary idea centered around the concept of regeneration and conscious consumption. RDVO is a laboratory of ideas.

The crossroads of two distant worlds that in synergy create new balances and shapes.
Mixing has always enriched cultures and people.

RDVO is not just accessories, but a creative forge with an open mind.

M O V I N G

RDVO. We are a good idea. A new brand born looking to the future. We produce backpacks, maxi bags, clutches, wallets, and accessories following the concept of Circular Economy. We recover nautical laminate and precious leathers from processing residues from the best Italian tanneries to create objects with a minimalist design and an eco-luxury style.

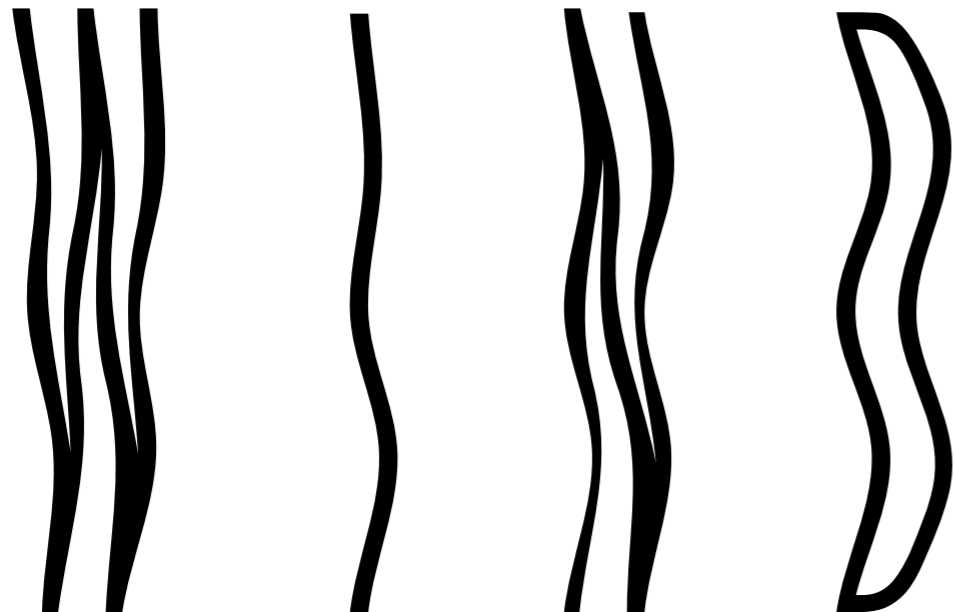

W I T H

A contemporary collection that responds to daily needs of urban life with a 100% green concept. RDVO, from the Latin Redivivus, has its mission in the name: selecting, recycling and recontextualizing materials that are distant from each other by origin, making them coexist harmoniously.

T H E

In our collection you will find the memory of the wind, of the sea, and of the land. And also of mind and heart. The urgency of a more sustainable fashion has stimulated the creativity of our team. We challenged each other and imagined new scenarios and possible solutions.

We are a laboratory of ideas that pays attention to what happens around us. We are a "Made in Italy" project. RDVO. We are a good idea.
